Council Opposes AMBAG Change

At its last meeting, the Seaside City Council voiced its unanimous opposition to a proposal that the dues structure of the Association of Monterey Bay Governments (AMBAG) be based only on the population of the member communities.

If the proposal is accepted Seaside's dues will increase from $250 to $3,832, based on a population of 35,935. Seaside would also have three votes to cast at board meetings, while other cities will have only one or two.

Mayor Louis Haddad has pointed out, however, that the population figure is misleading. He says it includes 15,000 persons at Ford Ord who are technically within Seaside's city limits, but who are not actually served by the city.

Haddad feels that assessed valuation of property ought to be part of the determinant of dues. He pointed out that Seaside's assessed valuation is $27.6 million, while Monterey's is $69.7 million. However, based on population, Monterey would pay only $2,805 with its population pegged at 26,302.

A portion of Fort Ord was annexed by Seaside a few years ago in order to increase its official population figure for the purpose of state subventions distributed on a per capita basis. However, Fort Ord residents received no city services, nor does the federal land appear on city tax rolls.

Register For Summer Jobs Next Week

Seaside students ages 16-22 who want summer jobs will be registering with the Student Employment Service of the Monterey Peninsula during Easter week, Monday through Thursday, March 27-30, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., in the Human Resources Development (formerly employment) office, 480 Webster Street, Monterey.

Members of the American Association of Retired Persons have been recruited to assist youth at registration time. The office staff has been increased for smoother operation of this annual event.

All public and private high schools on the Monterey Peninsula have received application forms for new students so that students currently registered for after-school and week-end work may bring their records up-to-date. Completed forms should be brought to the SES office for processing. Monterey Peninsula students who attend university or college elsewhere also are encouraged to register during the special week. Notices have been sent to students on the SES active and in-active lists announcing the event.

In 1971 there were 1268 students registered with SES. There are some 300 Seaside students currently registered and most of these are expected to up-date their cards for summer work. Many new applicants are anticipated also.

Members of the non-profit SES committee who live in Seaside are Guillermo Bautista and Mrs. Pearl M. Garey.

Grant Will Help Create More Jobs

Approval of a $248,000 grant to help create immediate jobs for the unemployed in Monterey County, was announced recently by Robert A. Podesta, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development.

The grant is part of a $50 million Public Works Impact Program ordered by President Nixon to create new and useful jobs in areas of high unemployment.

The Central Coast Counties Development Corporation, with offices at Aptos, is the applicant for the funds from the Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce.

The grant will help develop an agri-park at Salinas. The park will provide greenhouses and acreage for lease by individual farmers and offer facilities for cooperative purchasing, marketing and crop processing.

Local officials expect work to get under way within 30 days. The project is expected to provide jobs for seven skilled and 20 unskilled workers from the area for up to six months.

The applicant will provide $62,000 to complete the $310,000 total cost of the project.

On announcing the grant, Podesta said, "EDA will continue to work with local officials in their programs to create new jobopportunities."

The funds were approved under an amendment to the Public Works and Economic Development Act, which authorizes grants for projects that will create immediate construction jobs in areas of high unemployment.

Judges Are Named for Bank of America Awards

Five business, professional and civic leaders have been named judges to select zone winners from area high school in Bank of America's 25th annual Achievement Awards competion in Monterey.

The decision of these judges will see four of 30 hopefuls go on to the regional finals in Monterey in May and an opportunity to compete with other students for a top award of $1,000 in each of four study fields.

The zone judges will conduct panel discussions with the students about issues significant with the times.

Based on these interviews, scholastic records and extra-curricular activities of the students, the judges will choose the four most well rounded students to advance to the final event.

Judges for the Monterey zone event are:

Hugh Bayless, Carmel city administrator; Mrs. Ann Conklin, Watsonville housewife; Joseph R. Walton, manager of the Department of Motor Vehicles in Monterey; Vernon Hurd, general manager of Holman's Department Store in Monterey and Dr. Dean Y. Ishii, Seaside dentist.

First place zone winners are chosen in each of four study fields: fine arts, science and mathematics, vocational arts, and liberal arts.

The four zone winners are each assured of a $250 award at the regional finals, where they will compete for other awards ranging up to the four first place grants of $1,000. Second, third and fourth place zone winners in each of the four fields receive $100, $75 and $50 awards, respectively.

Local seniors participating in the zone event are: Jacqueline Cederwall, Monterey High School; Cathy Chambers, Seaside High School; Joseph Moreau, Seaside High; Donna Tabayoyon, Seaside High; Kathryn Clausen, Monterey High and Teresa McClellan, Seaside High.

Cunningham Wins Board Election

Ted Cunningham, of Seaside, won a seat on the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District Board of Education recently with a 21-vote margin over candidate Samir Mansour of Monterey.

Monsour was leading the field of five candidates until the last polling place, Noche Buena School in Seaside, reported on the balloting there. Cunningham polled sufficient votes there to take the lead and win the position on the board.

Turnout in the special election was light, at 15.47 percent. Out of a total 16,526 registered voters, only 2,558 votes were cast.

Final, unofficial results were as follows: Cunningham, 759, Mansour, 738, Howard B Simms, 488, Te Tseng Leu, 257 and George "Bud" Zimmerman, 222. The Rev. Dennis Franklin, of Seaside, gathered a scattering of votes, although he had announced last month that he was withdrawing from the race.

Cunningham will serve on the board until June 30, 1973, completing the remainder of the term of George Gividen, who resigned last November when a job change required an out-of-state move. He will be one of five trustees representing Monterey, Seaside, Del Rey Oaks, Sand City and Fort Ord.

Two board members represent the community of Marina.

Cunningham is an Army master sergeant with over 18 years of service.

(By Clint Porter during the absence of Andy Barragan)

In the past few days something happened in my life to prompt me to look up the following quote from Kahlil Gibran's SPIRITS REBELLIOUS: "Miserable is the man who loves a woman and takes her for a wife, pouring at her feet the sweat of his skin and the blood of his body and the life of his heart, and placing in her hands the fruit of his toil and the revenue of his diligence; for when he slowly wakes up, he finds that the heart, which he endeavored to buy, is given away freely and in sincerity to another man for the enjoyment of its hidden secrets and deepest love." Gibran says further on: "When a person loses a friend, he consoles himself with the many other friends about him, and if he loses his gold, he meditates for a while and casts misfortune from his mind, especially when he finds himself healthy and still laden with ambition. But when a man loses the ease of his heart, where can he find comfort, and with what can he replace it? What mind can master it? When Death strikes close by, you will suffer. But when the day and night pass, you will feel the smooth touch of the soft fingers of Life; then you will smile and rejoice.

"Destiny comes suddenly, bringing concern; she stares at you with horrible eyes and clutches you at the throat with sharp fingers and hurls you to the ground and tramples upon you with ironclad feet; when she laughs and walks away, but later regrets her actions and asks you through good fortune to forgive her. She stretches forth her silky hand and lifts you high and sings to you the Song of Hope and causes you to lose your cares. She creates in you a new zest for confidence and ambition. If your lot in life is a beautiful bird that you love dearly, you gladly feed to him the seeds of your inner self, and make your heart his cage and your soul his nest. But while you are affectionately admiring him and looking upon him with the eyes of love, he escapes from your hands and flies very high; then he descends and enters into another cage and never comes back to you. What can you do? Where can you find patience and condolence? How can you revive your hopes and dreams? What power can still your turbulent heart?" Further on Gibran caps it off with this appropriate phrase: "This is all I can tell you; please do not ask anything further. Do not make a crying voice of my calamity, but let it rather be mute misfortune; perhaps it will grow in silence and deaden me away so that I may rest at last with peace."

The past week has been a turbulent one for the staff. I am convinced that we have learned to "roll with the punches and swim with the tide." Also last week we took in several events: Kathy (boss' daughter) Barragan and I attended Bob Wood's Campaign Fund Raising event at the State Theater, which previewed John Wayne in "The Cowboys." "The Cowboys" turned out to be an excellent movie. Really worth seeing (at ALMOST any cost). Although I am certain the authorities would envoke the Child Labor Act if kids now-a-days worked that hard. Last week I went to a Chamber of Commerce meeting that I hope will be beneficial to all. The Chamber of Commerce has a very cozy little place (coffee and donuts for everyone). Well let's face it, the meeting was at 8:15 a.m. It will take more than that to get most of us awake that early in the morning.

Thursday night Bob (boss' son) Barragan and I attended the opening spring production of "Marat/Sade" put on by the drama department of Monterey Peninsula College. Everyone welcomed back Morgan Stock, chairman of the drama department after his sabbatical absence. The title "Marat/Sade" derives from the full title: "The Persecution and Assasination of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the Inmates of Charenton under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade." (see what I mean?)

Oh yes, Saturday morning (early) at 10 a.m. Mrs. Jane Van Hook opened her campaign headquarters in the Del Rey Theater, Seaside. More coffee and donuts. "A goodly crowd was there."

Meanwhile my boss (Andy Barragan) continues to improve. He is now taking outside walks. His wife, Jean, walked him over to the City Hall parking lot the other day, and Sunday they walked over to the Department of Motor Vehicles' new site. Now how about that? There is a rumor (just a rumor) that a member of his family is going to buy him a pair of roller skates so he can go to the Seaside Pharmacy and get his own medication. It would be pretty hard going, but coming back is mostly downhill. Maybe he could be towed uphill behind one of his automobiles.

Gotta leave you now. Remember: You can't always get what you want. But if you try sometimes, you'll get what you need.

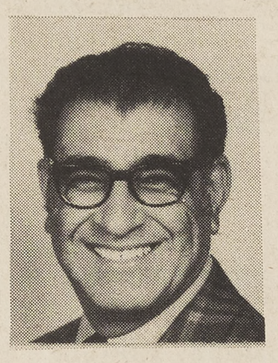
Mayor Haddad Reports



Louis Haddad

As my term in office draws to a close, I look back and try to ascertain the tangible and positive points of progress Seaside has achieved during my tenure in office.

We who live here have a tendency to accept daily change as routine and hardly realize that change is taking place. I have heard remarks from others who have taken a tour through our community in recent years that they never realized that Seaside had progressed so much.

Well, if Seaside has truly achieved any degree of progress, it was achieved by the untiring efforts of many dedicated public servants and the support of the people when the ships were down. Former members of the City Council, present members of the Council, Planning Commissioners, members of other Boards and Commissions, Redevelopment Agency members and many, many others have contributed so much of their time and energies to this progress.

Loyal city employees have participated in decisions which affected the community. Their recommendations have culminated hours of rehave culminated hours of research and surveys, ultimately resulting in staff recommendations, most of which were accepted by our city government.

I am proud to have been a small part of this image making.

Church Services

How did Christ Jesus heal the sick? This question will be explored Sunday at Churches of Christ, Scientist, in a Bible Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality."

Scriptural selections include an account of the healing by Christ Jesus of a blind man.

Commentary from "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes this explanation: "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick."

Services begin at 10:30 a.m. at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monterey, and the public is always welcome.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

"Hello, hello is this Peking? No, not Bekins. P-E--K-I-N-G, and put Mao Tse Tund on the line, and tell him it's Alex calling from Moscow. No, not Ajax. A-L-E-X. The last name is Kosygin."

"This is the operator. I am sorry, sir. There will be a slight delay because Chairman Meo is trying to call you on the hot line."

"Well, he's the guy I want to talk to. Haven't you got anybody there who understands broken Russian?"

"I am sorry sir. The only interpreters available speak only broken American and broken Chinese. May we have them call you?"

"Oh, for Confucious sakes, will you please just hook me up with Chairman Mao? Tell him I want to talk to him about Nixon."

"Oh, certainly, sir. Why didn't you mention that sooner? I have Chairman Mao on the line now. Go ahead, please."

"Hi, Mao. Is that you? This is me - Alex. You know. The Russian."

"Yes, yes, Alex. So good of you to call. I especially wanted to find out what you are going to tell Nixon when he visits you."

"Heck, it all depends on what he asks me, Mao. What did you tell him?"

"Nothing much. Mostly I sympathized with him on having so many problems - Jack Anderson, George Wallace, the Congress and some newspapers that think people should know what is going on. None of them would last very long here."

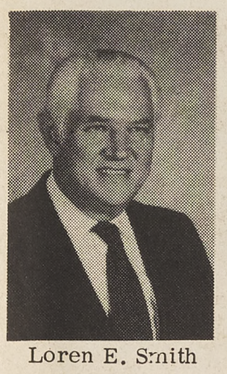
"You're so right, Mao, I mean left. Here either. Did he say anything about changing his Russian policy? If he's getting ready to bomb us I want to get a couple more loads of vodka in my air raid shelter. A lot of those items may be difficult to find after the thing gets started."

"No, but then of course Mr. Kissinger, the war minister, may have said something to my war minister. They talked for a long time, and all I know is they spent most of their time looking at a map of the world and measuring distances between Moscow and Peking and Montana, that's where they would be launching missiles. Does that make you feel any better?"

"Not really. I was king of hoping you and I could get together on this communist thing. I can't take over Europe and the Middle East until you agree to stay off my back while I do it, and of course you understand I can't let you build up your nuclear weapons to the point you could ruin all my vodka. Isn't there some way we could both come out ahead on this silly international bickering?"

"Of course, Alex. I figured that out years ago during my long march. We all just sit tight for about two more years while those capitalist Americans finish ruining their economy trying to ruin us poor communists, and I expect they'll be asking us if they can join our conspiracy, whatever that is."

Your Supervisor Reports



Loren E. Smith

During the past two weeks several matters have come up for discussion at the Board of Supervisors level that will be of concern to the people of the 4th District.

Of first concer is the ANTI-POVERTY PROGRAM and the manner in which the selection of the Interim Administrator is conducted, and should be understood by all. A five man Committee was appointed by the Board, (one representative from each Supervisorial District), and this body met on March 16th to review all written applications submitted for this position. On Monday morning, March 20th the Committed Interviewed the applicants and referred the top contenders to the Board of Supervisors for personal interviews that afternoon. Mr. Richard Bennett of Carmel was selected by the Board, based on his outstanding qualifications. He will be assisting the Supervisors in drawing up new by-laws and setting up the required Advisory Committee which will consist of fifteen members with five representing the disadvantaged people, five representing the public sector and five representing private groups. You will be kept informed on future developments in this important program.

Of second concern will be present changes in our MONTEREY COUNTY OVERALL ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM. Recent changes in federal legislation have made more capital available for programs that can be developed under OEPD. These past few months the Monterey County OEDP Committee has been somewhat dormant. Two weeks ago I requested the Board of Supervisors to reactivate this Committee and the Board unanimously approved this action. As i will be making some changes on representation for the 4th District, my thanks and appreciation go to all the members who have served in the past. I have great hopes for future federal funding of programs for small business assistance in organizing and expanding business ventures that should result in an increase in employment in our area.

The third item of interest and concern is the progress of Legislation on COASTLINE DEVELOPMENT. I am a member of the Tri-City Coastline Policy Committee as well as the California Supervisors Association Coastline Committee, and both are deeply concerned with the same issue.

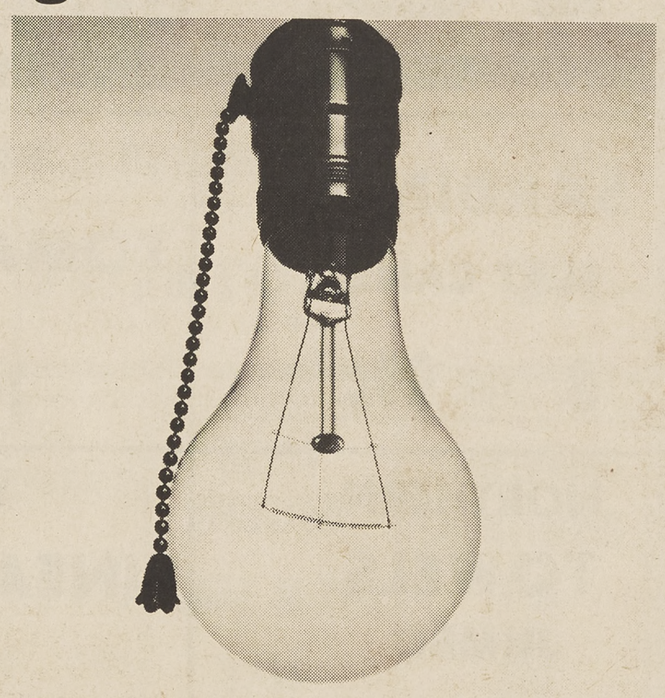
You can no longer take for granted what you've always taken for granted.



Touch a switch and the electricity goes on. You do it every day without even thinking about it because electricity is always there. And we want to keep it that way.

There have been no brownouts or blackouts here because PG&E has built new electric facilities on schedule as needed. And there's plenty of electricity here today and plenty in construction or planned to meet growing public needs and consumer demand through 1979.

But if our construction program is slowed down unduly or stopped, there definitely could be brownouts or blackouts here. We build ahead to prevent such problems. And we must continue building, because nowadays it takes about 10 years to acquire a suitable site, obtain regulatory approvals, construct and get a new power plant "on the line."

There are individuals and groups who are trying to slow down or stop construction of electric plants and transmission lines. Some even claim growth and progress are at an end or should be, and that therefore more electric power capacity is not necessary.

The fact is that power demands are going to continue to increase. And PG&E must meet these demands reliably and on time or there will be power shortages. We are doing our job now and are ready, willing and able to keep on doing it. Moreover, qualified, competent and responsible public agencies assure that in doing so we serve the best public interests, including environmental and ecological considerations.

To keep your electricity on tomorrow, we must build today. PG and E

Today's Army NEWS

By

Sgt. Jose Garcia

U.S. ARMY RECRUITER

What is the difference in TODAY'S ARMY schooling? There is no doubt that Army schooling and civilian schooling will prepare you for a meaningful career. But there is an important difference between the two types of schools. In many cases, civilian education concentrates on theory with little practical application. On the other hand, TODAY'S ARMY, while strong on theory, lets you apply that theory in actual, practical workaday problems. You learn by doing, by putting book theory to work.

There is another facet of TODAY'S ARMY schooling that shouldn't be overlooked. Since Army schools teach you the most modern techniques and methods used in American business and industry, civilian executives and personnel directors place high value on TODAY'S ARMY-trained man. Therefore, if you decide later on a civilian career, you'll take with you, experience that will benefit your prospective employers.

There are extra benefits of TODAY'S ARMY schooling. To begin with, all your living expenses are taken care of in an Army school. Your books are paid for by the Army. You'll have no bills to pay for rent, food or clothing. No medical or dental bills, either and you continue to earn your regular salary while you're learning. (By the way we start you off at $288 per month or $320.)

Although you'll study hard and work hard, you'll still have plenty of time and facilities for fun and relaxation. In fact, after-duty leisure is considered an essential part of a well-balanced educational program.

The best part of TODAY'S ARMY schooling is that you can choose before you enlist. Name your choice of training and in many cases where you would like to serve after receiving the Army schooling. So, if TODAY'S ARMY can help you get started and if you have questions regarding enlistment opportunities call us at 372-4742 or stop by 431 Webster Street in Monterey. THAT'S IT FOR NOW.

Women Are Eligible

The Navy has opened its NROTC College Scholarship Program to Women. Secretary of the Navy Chafee has previously announced that women would be admitted to navy ROTC units this fall. The latest announcement establishes procedures tuition, fees, books and a one hundred dollar per month subsistence allowance for up to forty months.

The four universities cited as initial participants this fall in the women's NROTC program are: The University of Flordia at Jacksonville; Southern University at Baton Rouge, Louisiana; The University of Washington at Seattle and Purdue University at Lafayette, Indiana.

Fore more information on the Navy ROTC program, contact Dhief Rivers at the Navy Recruiting Brank Station, located at 431 Webster Street in Monterey or call 372-1433.

Prayer Breakfasts At Ord

No one left the mess hall hungry of lacking in a refreshing spirit of prayer. All ingredients for a well balanced Prayer Breakfast were present in two such services in 1st Training Bridage at Ft. Ord on March 9 and 10. These services, which were held from 6 to 7 a.m., were attended by about 200 officers and enlisted cadre and soldiers in training.

Folk singing, guitar strumming and even a little dancing was not limited to chaplains or the commander. All in attendance had some part in the festivities. The brigade commander, solonel S. L. Barth, opened the program with a prayer for the Armed Forces.

Academy Begins at Fort Ord

The first class of the Sixth U.S. Army Non-Commissioned Officers Academy began at Fort Ord on March 6.

The course lasts four weeks and is the only NCO Academy in California.

Soldiers in grades E-4 through E-7 may attend the course on a voluntary basis. Eighty-eight men chose to attend this first class. They are from different posts in the state.

The will undergo inspections and receive instructions in various military subjects such as Techniques of Military Instruction, Leadership, and Land Navigation.

Platoon Sargeant Lester A. Vance, NCO in charge of the NCO Academy, says that the purpose of this academy is to increase the knowledge and professionalism of the NCOs.

The academy has four instructors: PlatSgt. Vance, NCO in charge of the Academy; Staff Sargeant William Martin, senior tactical NCC; Staff Sargeant Richard I. Lucas, assistant tactical NCO and Staff Sargeant David A. Bacus, in charge of instruction.

Colonel Stephen E. Cavanaugh, deputy installation commander, spoke at the initial orientation. He said that the NCO Academy was a landmark in Army education and was a move toward a better qualified corps of NCOs with a greater degree of responsibility and authority.

First Engine

Who built the first gasoline-powered engine in the United States? It was either Dan S. Regan of San Francisco or Syranus Standish of Gridley, but no one knows for sure, according to research by University of California at Davis historian F. Hal Higgins.

Higgins located the Standish in 1937 and later gave it to the University. Standish family memories put the origin of the Gridley in the 1880's. No patent was issued to Standish, but the patent plate on the Regan goes back to 1884.

"Ours may be the only remaining example of the Regan engine," says Lorry Dunning, sponsor of the Davis Antique Mechanics Club.

"The junk dealers were very active in the late 1930's as war approached. I don't know of any other models in existence."

The Regan was located under a tree on the Cadenasso Ranch in the Capay Valley near Davis where it had rested for 30 years after being removed from a salvage truck.

It was obtained for the university by club members from the grandson of Nicola Cadenasso who said the engine came into the family about 1890 and was used as a power source for pumping water, sawing wood and in 1912, hulling almonds.

Choir to Sing Here

The Westmont College Choir, a 40-voice group from Santa Barbara, California, will appear at the First Baptist Church of Seaside, 1945 Waring Street, the Saturday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Standard church literature and contemporary music make up the choir's repertoire, including selections by Schubert, Tallis, Brahms, Handel, Purcell, John Ness Beck and arrangements by the choir's director, John Lundberg.

Professor Lundberg is in his 25th year at Westmont, having directed the choir snce 1960. He is a graduate of the University of Washington and the University of Southern California Schools of Music, where he is currently a doctoral candidate. He is well known in church musical circles as a tenor soloist and recording artist and an arranger and conductor.

The choir is on its annual spring tour, this year singing 10 concerts in a one-week tour through Northern California. In oother years they have travelled to the Pacific Northwest, Arizona, Southern California and Colorado.

Westmont is a four-year, coeducational Christian liberal arts college with a current enrolment of 800 students. The 130-acre campus is located in the Monecito residential area of Santa Barbara, overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

Play Set

"The Trial of the Catonsville Nine," a play by Daniel Berrigan, will be presented by the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts at the Mill Valley Golf Club House, 267 Buena Vista Avenue.

Customize Your VW

Volkswagen dealers are offering a nose job out of the past for the world's most produced car, the VW Beetle.

The Wunderbug, now on display at the 60 authorized VW dealerships in northern California, northern Nevada and Utah, is a Volkswagen III sedan customized with a front-end grillwork kit. The conversion gives the homely looking Beetle the style of a 1930-era touring sedan.

"Wunderbugs are designed for the man who wants the economy and dependability of a Volkswagen, but still wants to turn heads with something that is totally unique," states William E. Briggs, general sales manager for VW distributor Reynold C. Johnson Co. "In the early-VW days a mystique grew around the car because it was so different. Now since the Beetle has passed the Model T as the world's most produced model, VWs are very common. The Wunderbug will bring some of that mystique back for the driver with its nostalgic lines," Briggs continued, "and the owner will still have the quality and tradition of 15-million plus Beetles to back him up."

A Wunderbug is constructed by removing the hood of a standard beetle, fitting it with a new hood, side panels and grill. The conversion increases trunk space and still allows gas filling through the lockable port on the right side. The new front end is fully lockable with a double hood release. This is located in the glove box.

Wunderbug kits are painted to Volkswagen specifications and exactly match the original colors. Wunderbugs are on display at each dealership and kits for older VWs are also available from the dealership parts departments.

PG&E Offers New Film on Mission Trail

A new Pacific Gas and Electric Company film, "Along the Trail of the Padres," will be available to service clubs and organizations after April 1.

The 16 mm film may be borrowed free of charge through the nearest PG&E office or Modern Talking Picture service, inc., 16 Spear Street, San Francisco.

Actor Clint Eastwood narrates the 28-minute picture, which takes viewers along the picturesque and historic route of the California missions. Many of the missions are within PG&E's service territory.

The narration points out the dedication of the priests of Alta California and their followers in founding the chain of missions, while the film shows the historic buildings in their modern settings.

Also pictured are contrasts such as those between today's advanced agricultural techniques and the primitive farming methods used in early California when electricity for irrigation and food processing did not exist.

Scenes range from aerial views of the missions to rodeo riders in Salinas and the quaint architecture in the Danish community of Solvang in Santa Barbara County.
